Committeemen Will Audition Revue Talent

Union Ballroom Is to Be Scene Of Scoutwork

All students who wish to take part in the forthcoming Red and White Review are requested to come to the Union Ballroom between the hours of 12 and 5 today.

Those who present themselves, whether they want to act or dance, direct or undertake the work of a stage manager, will be interviewed in order that the committee in charge of the porduction may allot them to the section of the Review for which their talents are best suited.

The services of some 125 students will be used in the production. The possible positions range from comedy work to precision dance sequences, as well as all the work involved behind the scenes, and in readying the show for production.

This will be the first Red and White Review to be put on since early in the war. Consequently there are few people about the University who understand the mechanics of such a production, and any original ideas which may be forthcoming are solicited by the committee in charge.

In addition, professional assistance will be used in producing the Review, but all except the most involved worl. will be done by members of the student body.

A spokesman for the committee has pointed out that many popular Canadian stars of today have played in one or the other of the eighteen performances of the show which have already gone on stage.

MEALS PROVIDED AT BEATTY HALL.

The dining-room facilities at Beatty Hall are now available to a limited number of non-residents on a monthly basis of three meals a day at $35 per month—payable in advance. Students who are interested should apply immediately to Mr. H. B. Carter at Beatty Hall. Preference will be given to veterans.

Veterans' Agency Gets Under Way

UniVet Enterprises Will Enrol Students Wanting Employment

UniVet enterprises, an organization to aid all student veterans to augment their income, will open today at 3619 University St., under the direction of Morton and LeBrooy, the students who founded it.

The chief service of UniVet will be that of providing veterans with part-time work during the session, and of avoiding the loss of time involved in looking for such employment. The work obtained will be such as can be done at odd hours during the day, and thus all eligible students will be enabled to take advantage of the facilities.

Discounts on clothing, on meals, on haircuts, and on cleaning and pressing and laundering services have been arranged with establishments about the city, in order to effect savings on behalf of the veterans. An endeavour is being made to secure cheaper entertainment also.

According to the advertising circulated by UniVet enterprises, it is operated on a strictly non-profit basis. A fee of two dollars is charged upon registration and a commission of 10 per cent. on shorter jobs and of 5 per cent. on those longer duration will be collected. The proceeds accrued from these sources are to be put to use for the discounts mentioned above.

Commerce to Set Pace Friday In Tripping the Light Fantastic

Johnny Holmes and Oscar Peterson Provide Music and Entertainment For Dance

By BEN HERSHAY

Ticket sales for the Football Dance this Friday night at the Union have been progressing most favorably, said a member of the Union House Committee last night. The dance open to everyone, will featured Johnny Holmes, and is scheduled to take place from 9-1 in the Ballroom of the Union is a jointly sponsored affair, the Union House Committee and the Commerce Undergraduate Society acting as hosts for the event.

A limited number of tickets only have been put on sale for the dance since the facilities of the Union are unable to accommodate more than 300 couples conveniently. As a means of remedying some of the congestion, there will be dancing to the music of a nickleodion on the second-floor reading room, a feature which proved extremely popular at the Reception Week dances. Refreshments will also be available in the Grill Room.

In line with the plan of turning over each of the three November affairs to the various undergraduate bodies on the campus, the first dance will have the School of Commerce as co-hosts for the event. Engineering and Arts and Science will act in the same capacity at future dances.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the class executives in the School of Commerce and from members of the Undergraduate Society by all students of Commerce.

For the rest of the campus, tickets selling at $1.25 per couple are available at Union Tuck shop.

Entertainment for the evening will be provided by Johnny Holmes and his band when they take over for a twenty-minute skit. These skits have proven popular with regular patrons of the Holme's affairs at Victoria Hall and feature a short comedy playlet as well as some individual musical work by Oscar Peterson, Holmes' pianist, backed by other members of the band.

Decorations for the affair will be handled by Jane Bishop and John Rutherford and some novel ideas will be put into execution. A bandstand to improve the general acoustics set-up is also under consideration at the present.

Moonlight dancing in which all the lights are to be shut off except two spots playing on the crowd from the balcony is another novelty feature to be tried at the affair and, according to the sponsors, will add "no little to the affair."

The dance is to be a pre-Queen's game event, for the following day the Queens McGill Intercollegiate contest takes place. A fair number of Queens supporters are expected to be in town for Saturday's game and are likely to attend the dance. The Queens supporters according to press reports are an "exceedingly spirited bunch" and will add plenty of the old "college spirit" to the affair.

Impromptu Fire Drill To Cease at Dawson

Dr. Gillson, Vice-Principal of Dawson College, has issued a statement concerning the use of fire-fighting equipment by the students.

"Fire-fighting apparatus, such as water canisters, ladders, etc., are not to be for any other purpose than fire-fighting. They are not to be moved from room to room or between buildings. Furniture is not to be located so that access through buildings, doorways, or passages is impeded.

It is further stated that any infraction of these rules will lead to university disciplinary action.

Dawsonites Back Ninth Loan Plan

Victory Bond Sales Reach Halfway Mark During Second Week

St. Johns, Que., October 29.—(Special to the Daily)—The Ninth Victory Loan at Dawson College today has reached 43.5 per cent. of the $50,000 objective, it has been reported by the bond committee. The loan has passed through less than half of the three weeks slated for the campaign ending November 10. The official salesmen, a trio of student veterans, Bill Connelly, Andre Laporte, and Frank Seigneur, who is replacing Gus Kirner, announced the success of the drive conducted on the campus.

Lyon Nathanson, public relations chairman, stated that the Victory Loan Committee intends to reach 150 per cent. of the present objective, that is, $75,000. It has been pointed out that the salesmen expect to canvass every Dawson student eventually, however anyone who has been missed or wishes to obtain further information is requested to visit the headquarters between 6 and 7 p.m. The office is located in the north-west wing office of hte G.I.S. Building, now called Dawson Hall.

Campus Drive For Magazines Starts Today

M.D. 4 Stresses Overseas Lack Of Literature

At the specific request of the Collection Committee of M.D. 4, a drive for used magazines to be distributed to the troops still overseas, for hospitals ships and for troop trains carrying Canada's fighting men home starts on the McGill campus today under the sanction of the Students' Executive Council.

With the termination of hostilities in Europe and in the Pacific theatre of action, the tendency on the part of the public has been to lessen their response in appeals of this sort. However, Cranford Pratt, Chairman of the drive on the campus, has pointed out that the need is still as great now as it ever was.

The principal cause of the lowering of morale of the troops now on occupation duty or awaiting shipping space for their return home has been boredom. Time hangs heavily on their hands and there is little in the way of recreation.

Magazines definitely help fill in their off-duty hours and provide comfortable and restful means of relaxation for a weary soldier, sailor or airman, Cranford Pratt said.

The magazines are also to be distributed on the troop trains carrying these members of the armed forces back to their homes in scattered parts of the Dominion. Many of the boys arriving in Halifax face the weary prospect of a four-day train journey across the country and the magazines according to Auxiliary Service Officers, help to make the ride a little more pleasant.

Posters explaining the purpose of the campaign have been placed in the principal buildings and places of public interest on the campus and boxes in which the students can deposit their old magazines have been provided.

Fiction, non-fiction, detective, sports, adventure, pulp magazines, picture magazines—all are desired for the drive. It has been especially emphasized that the whole attainment of the objective rests on the co-operation of the students.

"I don't think we'll fall down now on the job since we have done so well in campaigns of this nature in past years," said Chairman Pratt.

Quaking Queenmen Quell Queen City; Quit Quite Quiet

Raise Everything But the Rooftops Off Varsity Field

"What are we going to do about it? Do what about what and when? Tell us fella, what's this all about?"

O.K., O.K., here it is. It seems that when the Western students left McGill for London they stopped off at Toronto to complete some unfinished business, for when they left the Queen city a certain stadium was bedecked with a beeootiful paint job of Purple and White. Who said it was all quiet on the Western front

Much to the chagrin of the students and probably the executive of the London college, they found a neat little bill for something like 700 dollars on their desks the following morn after their return.

The Queens boys thought this was a good idea and also good fun, so they came to Toronto with some fancy notions of their own.

Came half time at the football game last Saturday and the Queens fans milled around centre field spreading lime all over the place. This, my friends, the Varsityites could not stomach. They rushed out to greet the hearty visitors with many a harsh word coupled with many a hard knock on the noggin.

The result, a good old-fashioned brawl. Navy suits turned to chalk pin-stripes in the bat of an eyelid, fists were flying in all directions followed by accompanying teeth, and what were formerly white ban-

CANADIAN CAMPUS — a CUP feature

INTERCOLLEGIATE SPORT

Canadian Campus needs no introduction from us this week. In face of overwhelming evidence, who are we to tell you that INTERCOLLEGIATE SPORT IS BACK!

Dalhousie University

Halifax, N.S.—Of the three Dalhousie teams entered in the Maritime English rugby-football only one, the senior team in the city league, has so far met with any degree of success. Both Dalhousie's senior team in the intercollegiate league, and intermediate team in the city league, fell to the cutting blows of Acadia's Axemen.

However, Dalhousie's tennis team, organized last week, swamped Mount Allison in its initial engagement. With one team entered in the city soccer league, Dalhousie has plans under way to enter teams in Maritime intercollegiate boxing, badminton, hockey, basketball and swimming competitions.

Mount Allison University

Sackville, N.B.—The intercollegiate football series is well under way and now that Mount Allison is no longer in competition for the title, maybe our views might be interesting to outsiders.

The University of New Brunswick, as the New Brunswick intercollegiate champs, now have to meet St. Dunstans in a home and home series. The Hillmen should win as St. Dunstans has not the team she had.

In the Nova Scotia loop it is hard to predict who will come out on top. St. Francis Xavier were upset by Acadia's Axemen and enter the second game with a one point deficit. With all due regard to the Axemen, we predict St. Francis Xavier will prove to be the winners. Therefore, as we see it, the University of New Brunswick and St. Francis Xavier will be the semi-finalists.

In the meantime we sit back, as far as intercollegiate sports are concerned, waiting for hockey and basketball to begin.

St. Francis Xavier

Antigonish, N.S.—St. Francis Xavier is now playing the Nova Scotia football schedule, the winner of which will advance against the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island champs for the Maritime Intercollegiate Football title.

A high calibre hockey team will be iced again this season, and entry will be made in the Intercollegiate Hockey schedule to be drawn up by M.I.A.U.

We expect to participate in the Intercollegiate Boxing Meet to be held at the University of New Brunswick in March and the Track Meet to be staged at Acadia University next May.

QUESTIONNAIRE CONCERNED WITH VETERANS' PROBLEMS CIRCULATING CAMPUS TODAY

Students Asked to Give Information On Any Housing Available for Vets

A call to the students and staff of McGill University, who may be able to supply information about the immediate housing of veterans is being issued by the Housing Committee of the Veteran's Society.

"There are a number of veterans, both male and female, who are in immediate need of a place to live in," emphasizes Housing Director J. Switzman, "and their continued stay at the university is threatened unless they obtain accommodation."

Ballot boxes have been set up in each faculty building. Students who know of any available room or rooms which can be rented, are asked to fill in the form appearing below, and to drop it into the ballot box in his or her faculty building.

The Information received on these forms will be handled by the Housing Committee in a strictly confidential manner, and they hope that the seriousness of the situation will evoke considerable response.

Purpose to Train Government's Eye On Ex-servicemen

Co-operation Needed From All To Make Enterprise a Success

A survey of all housing and financial conditions of veterans at McGill will take place this morning. Questionnaires dealing directly with these two subjects will appear in all faculty buildings.

On the basis of information received from this survey, the McGill Students Veterans Society will compile all the facts on housing and maintenance allowances into a brief to be presented for ratification at a meeting of the Veteran's Society.

Culminating a week of discussion and consideration of the various aspects of veteran problems, the Society has decided that the housing and financial conditions of the veteran students, is of such seriousness as to warrant being brought to the attention of the proper government authorities.

In order to get a complete and accurate report, the Society emphasizes to all veterans the need of filling out the questionnaire as carefully and as accurately as possible. Complete cooperation from all veterans is urged, and the questionnaires must be completed in 24 hours; that is, they must be handed in by Wednesday at 5 p.m.

Questions appearing on the forms are of a personal welfare nature, dealing with living quarters, income and expenses of veterans. More prominent among the queries is the one that asks whether or not additional income is required other than living allowances to cover expenditures.

The Housing section of the questionnaire strives to uncover two facts. The adequacy and suitability of veteran's accommodation, plus the cost. Recent concrete cases presented by various veterans points out the necessity for such investigation.

All completed questionnaires must be placed in the ballot boxes, situated near the entrances of all faculty buildings before Wednesday at 5 p.m.

A portion of the questionnaire appears above, filled in with sample, if not ideal figures. This is intended to indicate how to fill out the forms.

Students Protest Deportation Plan

Japanese-Canadians Receive Full Support Of SCM at Manitoba

Winnipeg, October 29.—(CUP)—A strong protest regarding the deportation of Japanese Canadians has been registered here by the Student Christian Movement at the University of Manitoba in support of the stand taken by the SCM at the University of Toronto recently.

Characterizing a proposal to deport Japanese citizens as "a blot on the history of our country," the SCM said that any such action would be "a denial of one of the basic doctrines by which we seek to live and evaluate living."

The SCM stated that it had taken its stand on the basis of two "fundamental principles"—one specifically Christian and the other concerned with citizenship.

"On Christian grounds we believe in the Fatherhood of God from which follows the Brotherhood of Man", said the SCM statement. "If this doctrine has any meaning, then it becomes impossible for us to pass judgment on any group or individual in terms of race. This we feel is being done in relation to the Japanese Canadians."

On the basis of citizenship it was argued that a fundamental point of British justice is that a person is innocent until proved guilty. Prime Minister King was quoted as saying that no person of Japanese origin has been charged with any act of sabotage or disloyalty during the years of the war.

COMMUNITY WELFARE COURSE

The first lecture in Community Welfare will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 7, at 5 p.m. in Room 12 in the RVC. All girls signed up for this course are urged to be present, and if the time is not convenient for the majority it will be changed after the initial meeting.

Varsity Group Scores Decision on Japanese

Toronto, Oct. 29. — (CUP) — The Students' Branch of the Canadian Association of Scientific Workers has passed two resolutions at a recent meeting, one advising the Students Administrative Council to take "immediate action" in connection with the Argentine question, "similar to that of McGill," and the other condemning the Canadian government's decision to deport 10,000 Japanese-Canadians.

"The recent decision of the Canadian government to deport Canadians of Japanese origin is an entirely undemocratic move founded on racial intolerances and discrimination. Therefore we resolve to make known our protest by sending a telegram to the Canadian government urging it to reverse its deplorable policy in this regard."

Gain Seen by Toronto In Waterways Scheme

Toronto, October 29.—(CUP)—Toronto would benefit and Montreal might lose by the St. Lawrence Waterways plan, according to opinions expressed by professors of geography, sociology and political economy at the University of Toronto in interviews here yesterday.

The opening of the river for ocean traffic has been a much-debated topic here since revival of discussion on the project by the U. S. Senate. The Senate is investigating the possibility of joint committee control of river traffic.

Toronto would benefit at the expense of Montreal, said Prof. Griffith Taylor of the Geography Department. He pointed out that by deepening the St. Lawrence for sea-going traffic below Kingston, Montreal would be robbed of its position as "break of bulk."

Debating Union Will Endeavour To Organize Standing Parliament

The organization of a Model Parliament will occupy a prominent position on the agenda of the Debating Union at its meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

Prompted by the interest recently shown in political matters by the students of this University, the Debating Union Executive has decided to set up a relatively permanent Model Parliament at McGill. This will be the first organization of this type in any Canadian university. It is intended that it should meet regularly during the year, and the subjects placed before it for discussion will cover a wide field of Canadian problems.

The make-up of the Parliament, its leaders, and the frequency with which it will meet, will all be threshed out at this evening's meeting.

Also included in the agenda is the presentation to the meeting of Professor Humphries of the Faculty of Law. Professor Humphries is the Honorary President of the Debating Union Society.

Elections will be held for the appointment of inter-faculty chairmen. These will compose the standing committee of the Society, and will organize the schedule for the inter-faculty debates which will be held throughout the year to give those who are interested in public speaking, but who are unable to participate in the inter-collegiate debates, an opportunity of indulging their abilities.

The President of this Society urges all students interested in debating, public speaking and the Model Parliament to attend.

Rooms for Veterans

A free room, centrally located, is available for a single veteran at McGill who is willing to stay in three nights a week with a 12 year old boy.

Low rental accommodation is also available for two other veterans. Details may be secured from John Switzman, Ca. 0726, between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.

A Dedication

In an effort to bring to the attention of McGill Students the fact that there is an entirely forgotten Faculty on this campus, we have dedicated this page to the Faculty of Music. For many years this "silent service" of the campus has been in operation, and while every other faculty enjoyed its share of publicity, the Musicians have worked on, never once feeling that they were part of McGill. We know of many students who have graduated from our Conservatory without anyone in the other faculties knowing of them; their names are read out at Convocation, their relatives and personal friends applaud, and another musician leaves McGill, unknown and unappreciated.

The Faculty of Music has no representative on the Students' Executive Council. In other words, the students there must conform to the rules and regulations, the decisions and financial arrangements made by a body which does not even represent them. Today the blame for this cannot be put on any organization, or even the Council itself, for an unrepresented Faculty of Music has become an accepted tradition.

Today a new spirit has come among both the members of the Students' Council, and the Conservatory. An energetic Council has already expressed the hope for a revision of the constitution of the Students' Society; for in no other way could a representative from the Music Faculty be allowed to sit on the Council, than by an enactment of the student body. The Faculty of Architecture is in a similar position; we hope to dedicated a similar page to that Faculty in the near future. In the Faculty of Music also, the desire for a stronger union with the rest of the campus is very evident. Plans have been made for an all-student symphony orchestra, for Sunday night sing-songs, for a choral group and Madrigal choirs . . . these are designed to bring all McGill students into contact with the "forgotten faculty."

But these plans will be null and void if the students of this University do not become conscious of the need for a closer union. The first step in this direction, we feel, is to show our readers in words and pictures what many a generation of McGill students seems to have missed. Beyond that, The Daily will publish all available news of developments in the Conservatory, and will endeavour to remind students that the Faculty of Music must never again be forgotten.

McGill should be proud to have on the campus a Faculty which teaches one of those few remaining arts that can remind us that today, in the age of the atomic bomb, in the age of all-consuming wars and never-ending hates, the beautiful things in life are not entirely obliterated. Wars shatter churches, art-galleries and concert halls, but they cannot shatter the spirit of music . . . a spirit which has been perpetuated since time immemorial as a guiding light in times of sorrow and an expression of joy in times of good fortune. Let us never again forget the school that teaches this immortal art right here at McGill!

MEET THE FACULTY OF MUSIC

The Dean of Music Douglas Clarke

By GLENNA LYMBURNER

Over on the corner of University and Sherbrooke is what might well be called the 'mystery house' of the campus. Everyone knows it is part of McGill, some know that it is the McGill Conservatory, only those associated with it know about its activities and its staff.

Generally, the best source of information concerning either the current events or the past history of a McGill faculty is the janitor. Unfortunately the janitor of the Conservatory is not musical. Therefore, since music is the Conservatory's business the person to see is the Director of the McGill Conservatorium. He is Mr. Douglas Clark, M.A., Mus.B. (Cantab), F.R.C.O., F.R.C.M. Dean Clark does not live up to the usual concept of a musician. He is a far cry from the old picture of the dull, academic scholar with his mind far afield in symphonic echoes. Conversation with him soon shows him to be a pleasant, likeable man whose plans, hopes and memories are all centred around musical interests, but it is an active interest not vague or self-centred.

Douglas Clarke, Dean of the Conservatory, came to Canada from England, in 1927 as conductor of the Winnipeg Male Voice Choir and of the Philharmonic Society and was organist of Holy Trinity Church. In May, 1929, he came to McGill as an examiner. His theory is that he also was being examined for in September he was appointed Director of the Conservatory and the following year Dean of the Faculty of Music. In 1929 he became the conductor of the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, the first symphonic venture in the city. In 1936 he was made a Fellow of the Royal College of Music. A fellowship is given at the college for service to the art of music. There are only 50 musicians living who hold this honour, among whom are MacMillan and Strauss.

DEAN DOUGLAS CLARKE

When he came to the Conservatory, Dean Clark found that a need existed for an extracurricular activity, something that would keep the students of the faculty from becoming isolated in their separate fields of study. With this need in mind the Conservatorium Club, which is still active, was formed to act as a social group as well as academic.

Speaking of the Conservatory's retirement in recent years in the position of a faculty with very little active connection with the college, Dean Clarke pointed out two contributing factors. First, since students of music were not exempted from military service, the faculty lost many good students. These veterans are now returning, bringing with them much of the old talent and life. Secondly, the Music Faculty has become isolated from campus activities; this in the Dean's opinion is the greatest trouble. With the return of many of the old pre-war college events, he hopes this will be remedied. "The Music Faculty wants to take an active part in McGill activities," stated Dean Clarke." Neither the staff or the students wish to be isolated as a group apart."

Time and Tide

Take a Look

This page really speaks for itself. There is an editorial in column 1 and five pictures which give a pretty idea of what we are trying to say. The gist of the matter is, take a look . . . take a good look, and don't forget it too quickly.

It is somewhat obvious that when there is this much material concentrated into one page there is a reason behind it. The reason is the Conservatory; the reason is what the music students have to say about their faculty; but the best reason of all is you who opens this Daily, blinks a couple of times at the page says in a rather blank voice, "Oh, yes, we have a Music Faculty, haven't we!"

This lack of knowledge has grown up over a period of time and cannot be blamed on one particular factor right now, but it is a thing about which we can do something. There are a few of us who have come in close contact with the Conservatory through the Carnegie Music Library (more commonly known as the Music Room) and through working with their orchestra in such efforts as the English Department's production of Everyman last year, and we know the work they do. I think we all will soon.

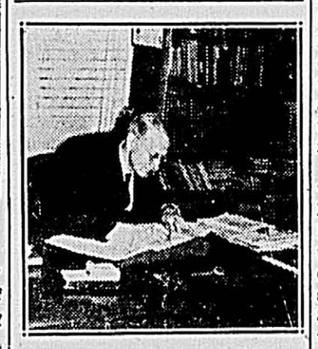

THE McGILL CONSERVATORIUM OF MUSIC

By JOHN FOX

The McGill Conservatory of Music was officially opened for teaching on September 21st, 1904, under the direction of the late Dr. Charles A. E. Harris. Prior to that date the Royal Victoria College had included in its curriculum such subjects as Pianoforte, Singing, History of Music, Form and Musical Theory under the supervision of Miss Clara Lichtenstein.

During the session of 1903-1904 the suggestion was made to the Corporation of McGill University that the time had come for the University to offer a systematic instruction in music. After careful consideration it was decided to extend the teaching given in R.V.C. by instituting a Conservatorium of Music, the aim of which should be to offer thorough instruction in all branches of music, and so to encourage the development of local and native talent. The Chancellor of the University at that time, the late Lord Strathcona, placed at the disposal of the University, for the purposes of the Conservatorium, the former Workman residence, situated on the northwest corner of University and Sherbrooke streets, adjoining the campus. In order to equip the building suitably, considerable alteration in the interior was necessary, the expenses incurred being borne personally by Lord Strathcona.

R. deH. TUPPER
Vice-Director

The Conservatorium was officially opened on October 14th by their Excellencies Lord and Lady Minto, the former being then Governor-General of the Dominion. Up to the year 1909 instruction was given in accordance with the scheme of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy and Royal College of Music, of London, whose examinations were conjointly with McGill, supplemented by a University course leading to the Degree of Mus. Bac. It was felt, however, that the time had arrived when a scheme more directly suitable to the local conditions of the Dominion was desirable, and the Conservatorium instituted its own Local Centre Examinations in the spring of 1910.

In 1920 the Governors of the University constituted a Faculty of Music with Dr. H. C. Perrin, Mus. Doc., F.R.C.O., as Dean, and in 1923 the Conservatorium building became the property of the University by deed of gift from Lady Strathcona, in accordance with the wishes of the late Chancellor. Doctor Perrin retired in 1929 and Douglas Clarke, M.A., Mus. B. (Cantab.), F.R.C.O., was appointed Director, and in 1930 Dean of the faculty.

Pupils are admitted to the Faculty of Music as Regular, Partial, or Class Students. Regular students are given individual instruction in a principal study, a second study, and are admitted to the various lectures and classes according to their standard of ability, as decided by the Dean. Encouragement is given for the students of the Conservatorium to take advantage of the all-round, thorough musical education which is available to them.

There are a limited number of scholarships and bursaries which are awarded at the beginning of each session, at the discretion of the Dean. The faculty also undertakes pianoforte and violin class teaching at a number of the Protestant schools in the city and surrounding districts. These are open to all children living in the districts served whether pupils of the particular school or not. In the spring of each year, examinors are sent out and examinations are being held in over forty centres throughout the Dominion and in the United States, in such cities as Washington and Pittsburgh.

Since the Conservatorium first opened in 1904 it has made tremendous strides towards emulating the type of instruction offered at such Universities as Julliard and Heidleberg and if it continues in the future with the admirable progress already shown, McGill may well look forward to becoming the outstanding Canadian University as regards its Faculty of Music.

ORGAN LESSONS

The Students of the Faculty

By JOSETTE FLARIONS

In interviewing various students of the Conservatorium, I found their concensus of opinion to be that the music faculty is almost completely left out of campus life and dissociated from the University as a whole.

"No, we are not part of McGill!" one girl told me emphatically. "We have nothing to do with the real University and the other faculties show little interest in us. We are just sort of ignored."

Other students told me much the same thing. "It was almost four years before I became acquainted with the other aspects of McGill," said one, "and the only reason I happened to realize just how much I had missed in regard to social activities was because I wandered into the Union several times and got talking to a few of the kids there." "It's not the fault of the students at the Conservatorium," said another. "We can't be expected to come to anything when we don't know what is going on." This is not quite correct in so far as students at the Conservatorium receive Daily every morning just as the other faculties do; however their time schedules are so arranged that they must of necessity miss any activities that go on during the day.

The same thing was told me by several others. "I've often had people ask me whether I was in Arts or Science and when I told them that I was in Music they just stared at me and said they hadn't known there was such a thing," was the caustic remark of one embryo musician and I also was the recipient of such remarks as —"It's really absolutely disgusting to find that half the people on this campus don't even know there is a Conservatorium."

STUDENTS AT LECTURES

Various suggestions were offered which might help to break down this isolation and bring the Music Faculty a little more into the spotlight. Universities in the United States were cited as requiring music students to take Arts courses in addition to music and in this way they come in contact with students of other faculties. It was also suggested that the Conservatorium offer courses specifically for those Arts students who are interested in music. They should have Music Appreciation and History of

LETTER FORUM

WAR SECRETS OR A BAD COLD

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—If the author of "My Column" who so humbly uses the trade name of "Me" had published his contribution of October 22 on Marmaking during the war I have suspicions that he would have been pounced upon by the government censors.

After reading the column twice and submitting it to several friends we all classed it vague to the degree of super-super surrealism. In wartime anything that is vague and suggests a deeply coded message, immediately attracts the wary eyes of government censors.

In calm defiance of today's trend towards clear cut definitions or at least fairly obvious references in short stories "Me" exudates this amorphous cranial mucous. Should the author imagine he can attract readers by inflating the Daily's pages with these horrific nightmares or whooping cough spasms he is lulling himself into the agonies of premature scholastic death—that would not do.

Unfortunately if "Me" supposes he is dealing in humorous hyperboles in the machinations and deformations through which his brain child "Marmaking" goes in order to obtain a scholarship—he is coughing into the wrong handkerchief.

"Me" is also misinformed about the veteran's allowances at university—he should check up. Sadly enough the plot of this stuff head cold was the veteran's allowances; which now crumbled leaves little but a few sneezes which could be readily ameliorated by several Vicks nose drops.

Many Cagers Seek Places on Intermediate, Senior Squads

Large Basketball Turnout Gives Championship Hopes To McGill Hoop Quintets

Davies, Van Wagner Condition Red and White Squads for MBL

By LOU WEINGARTEN

A new coach, many aspirants and promise of a successful year marked the opening of the basketball season, which had its first practice at the Gymnasium last night. Although many stars were not present, it is hoped that these potential hoopsters, will be out regularly as soon as the football season has its finale.

Ahoy Cagers! . . . If you couldn't find your way through the mob who turned out for the first practice . . . don't worry . . . remember . . . one team holds at least ten players, so if you don't make the first team, it'll be the second . . . and if not the second . . . the third, — how many teams are there going to be? . . . Whatta ya askin' me for, the brains themselves, haven't decided yet . . . ah, so what! I can always play intra-mural . . .

VARIED ASPIRANTS

All hopefuls could be classed under three headings, ex-servicemen, high school stars, and last years players . . . only God could make out who was who, but the mentors will soon sort out the cytoplasm from the nucleus, and we ought to have a couple good teams. In a few weeks, the M.B.L. will be knocked off its tootsies, when it learns what the Red Squad has on ice this year.

MANY RETURN

Of last year's senior team, greetings are due to George Athans, Mart Goodwin, Manny Shacter, George Davidon and Sammy Roth, and to their little intermediate brothers, Nev Lefcoe, Ernie Ingham, Syd Glazur and Lou Weingarten.

At the beginning of the practice, F. M. Van Wagner, divided the hoopsters into several groups, and each went through a few fundamentals . . . that's right, brother . . . fundamentals . . . What d'ya say? . . . yeah! Did ya hear 'Stretch' Murphy? It's a good idea to know some basic formulas before developing some of your own . . . for instance, first, if you're right-handed, you dribble the ball with your left hand, up to the free-throw zone, then you pivot, to the right, or left . . . well, anyway, you throw the ball at the circular disc hanging on the board and if you're lucky, it'll go in, then you can consider yourself a 'joueur au panier!' . . . however, if you still feel you're eligible we'll see you Wednesday at 5 p.m.

TALL

Speedy GEORGIE DAVIDON, leading scorer of the Redmen in the 1944-45 season, back this year for his third season on the senior squad. With the return of Intercollegiate basketball, Davidon will be an important cog in McGill's championship hopes.

TENNIS NOTICE.

Will students who have equipment in lockers at McTavish Courts clear it out immediately.

ARCHERY

Attention Archerettes! There will be a meeting of the Archery Club on Thursday in the Lower Gym at R.V.C. Time: 10 to 12 a.m. Previous experience in archery is not required: beginners are more than welcome by the Manager.

The manager would like as many experienced archerettes as possible to turn out, as plans are made to select a team for the coming Inter-collegiate Telegraphic Meet.

Gymnastic Group Ready for Action

First Session Tonight; Definite Plans Are Set For Intercollegiate Meet

The Gymnastic Club has announced that definite plans for an intercollegiate competition during the year have been formulated, and that the representative team will be chosen shortly.

MANY HOLDOVERS

Among the holdovers from last year's group the following have signified their intention of competing for positions on the team: Reg Lyn, Peter Layne, Joe Sabbath, Don Mathews and Ross Swinden, this year's manager. The new crop of gymnasts includes many veterans among whom are John Simpson, Hugh Warburton, Jim Savage, Ted Futterer, John Foster, Jack King, Frank Barrit, Hack Yates, also two outstanding hand balancers, Lyman Francis and Clark Merrit.

Practice sessions will be held throughout the year on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5.15 p.m. It is expected that meetings will also be held on Saturday as soon as the rugby season is over. All those interested are requested to attend the first practice which will be held today at 5.15 p.m. in the east end of the gym.

Hutchins Returns To McGill Judo

Club Originator Starts Ju-jitsu Season Today In Gymnasium at 5 p.m.

The Judo Club of McGill University will have its first meeting at 5 p.m. to day in the B. W. and F. Room in the Currie Gymnasium.

The first Judo Club to be started at McGill was under the coaching of Rogers Hutchins, some two years ago. Unfortunately, however, Hutchins, joined the Navy during that year, and the Club was kept on its feet by some few diehards. Last year, a former Y.M.C.A. instructor, Verne Estano, was able to raise a half dozen or so Judoists who entered into competition.

HUTCHINS BACK

Rogers Hutchins is back again, bringing with him a wealth of experience and while the campus is ripening with ex-servicemen, many of whom no doubt are experts in some form of combat Judo.

PRACTICES MONDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Judo Practices will be held regularly, every Monday and Wednesday at 5 p.m. All Students who are interested in this finer artistic sport are urged to present their "passes' at the first meeting to be held tomorrow, while a point which cannot be over emphasized is the fact that being in shape is a paramount feature. Judo, despite, the apparent simplicity of its execution is an art not acquired in five easy lessons . . . "So come out and get yourself built up right, by developing systematic coordination of senses and reflexes. is the manager's request. Only by praticing diligently, can such fundamentals as falling to be learnt property and then in later work several of the few throws might be mastered . . . (if your body can still be distinguished between that of a human organism or a cadaver.)

Judoists are asked to wear old pants and sweatshirts for practices.

Backstage in Sport

By LARRY SIROTA

As you may well know by now, children basketball is again with us this year. But there are a few changes, one, Intercollegiate competition is to revived in February, and two, we have a new mentor within our confines, a gent named Lou Davies.

TALKING WITH DAVIES

Talking to the above mentioned squire, you get the impression that here is a boy who knows plenty about the cage game and answers to our queries told us that the observations had been correct.

The new coach takes over from F. M. Van Wagner, who taught the hoopsters many of the tricks of the trade and laid the groundwork for what may be a championship team this year. Associated with Lou Davies, is a host of cage tradition of countless Intercollegiate championships won, while he was at Western, of squads of players with top calibre, of typical McGill spirit blazing across the horizon behind fighting College teams.

Coaching teams for the past decade or more in the U.S.A. and Canada is just a small part of the colourful background this athletic looking gentlemen brings with him. "Where did I learn my basketball?" Why down at the good U.S.A. I guess I've been around for quite some time."

Yessir! Lou has seen plenty of competition and top notch teams in his day and, from what may be gathered from this interview, is content on giving McGill an Intercollegiate Championship his first time out.

SENIOR ENTRY

Lou will only be coaching the senior entry at our old Alma Mater and as yet has no idea of the quantity of McGill cage hopefuls, however, with two weeks to ge before the MBL season opens and with capable Van Wagner here to point out the brighter lights on the basketball horizon Lou will probably field a team well worthy of his name.

Having seen service in our Armed Forces for the past four and half years Mr. Davies has had a big hand in outlining cage activities for our Servicemen, and is confident of the quality of ex-service hoopla artists.

CAGE SETUP

Commenting on the set up for this coming semester the coach had nothing to say except that the McGill will be entering a Senior and Intermediate in the MBL. with the outside possibility of a Junior team being formed. The only hitch in the works is that the Gym will not be available for regular practices due to Intra-mural activities.

The veteran cage artist expressed in the fact that the boys from Dawson will, in all probability, not be able to practice with the McGill team regularly. It is known that 3 or 4 expert ball handlers are out that way, namely, Bobby Dufard, et al, former members of the Junior Champions of Canada, and provided they can come in fairly consistently to fit into the team's combinations it is doubtful if they will be able to win themselves a place on the cage squad.

OPPONENTS

As for the comparative strength of the other college teams all Davies can say at the moment is that they will be pretty strong since he has already had the experience of seeing some of them play, men like Jack Parry and Harry Szunlinski.

"The fact that the Redmen will compete against American teams will do our cagers a world of good, he said. These outfits are power-packed, have smooth ball handlers and present various styles of play which will teach the boys to defend themselves against all sorts of competition."

With this note of confidence, we left Lou Davies to his coaching duties.

Red Soccer Team Beats The Bonnets

Fast Moving Forwards Good Defensive Works Give McGill 2 to 1 Win

Sparked by a fast-moving trio of inside forwards Ammon, Glegg and Barnard, and by the sterling defensive work of Lindo, the McGill soccer team finally hit its stride on Saturday, defeating Blue Bonnets-Westmount by a 2-1 score

McGill won the toss and elected to play with the wind. After about twenty minutes of play, the Redmen got the first goal when Glegg snared a long pass on the wing and centered to Barnard, who headed in from close range. Soon after a long shot by Ammon was deflected by a defender into the Westmount goal.

Blue Bonnets Press

In the second half the Blue Bonnets, with the wind behind them, had most of the play. However a stubborn McGill defence prevented them from scoring until a penalty shot was awarded when a McGill player handled the ball, averting a sure goal. Samuels saved the first attempt but the ball rebounded and a second shot gave him no chance, making the score 2-1. Towards the end of play, the game became progressively rougher and several penalties were handed to each team.

McGill showed a definite improvement in each department and are now confident that they can hand Dawson a licking, if a return game can be arranged this week. The following represented McGill: Samuels; Smith, Lindo; Wolvin, Wood, Dale; Wilkinson, Barnard, Glegg, Ammon, Fong. Sub., Ferrier.

Interest Evident In Softball Loop

Arts Aggregation Face Commerce, Architecture In Tilts This Afternoon

The Intramural Softball play enters the last three weeks of what has been one of the most successful seasons in years as Arts and Science II faces Commerce I and Architecture squares off against Arts and Scienee III and IV in the gym today.

PLAY WIDE OPEN

With play wide open in the four sections, all faculties are in the hunt for loop leadership. The winner of each section enters the playoffs. Along with these will be represented teams from Dawson and Macdonald.

At present there are three postponed games which must be played. So as not to complicate the schedule, Hay Finlay announced that the teams must decide between themselves on the time and date of these games.

CRUCIAL CONTESTS

Today's contests are both crucial. In loop A Arts II is leading with two wins followed by Commerce I which has split its two games. An Arts victory would result in championship while Commerce must win to obtain a tie.

Game two is equally important. The situation is the same with Architecture in the drivers seat while Arts III and IV must win to stay in the running. This game looms as a pitchers duel, with Giraud opposs-

Thank You Imperial Tobacco

Canada's Finest Scoreboard Donated to McGill University

By the grace of God and the Imperial Tobacco Company, manufacturers of Sweet Caporals and other fine cigarettes (plug! plug!), McGill University has been endowed with a scoreboard at Molson's stadium, which is not only better than the old one but is the finest in Canada. This we have on the word of no less an authority than Major Stewart Forbes, head of the McGill Athletics office.

The downs are kept by a triangular disc. Not only does this machine keep track of the three downs allowed under CRU rules but a fourth down is on the board for high school games — or is it a precaution for the future?

RECORDS LOSSES

Our new scoreboard has another attribute which makes it unique in Canada. Not only does it mark the yards to go for first down, but should McGill, which it often does, throw the opposition for a loss, the board can record the difference up to fifteen yards.

The clock is mechanically perfect being synchronized. It is worked from the timer's bench and is the same as the official timer's watch throughout. The dial is 10 feet in radius and the whole board is made of sheet aluminum.

WELL LIT

Not only has our famous scoreboard room for the local score by quarters but space has been provided to keep the score of four outside games at the same time. So proud are we of our scoreboard that sufficient lighting must be added for night games. At present five lights are focused on the board and with the abolition of priorities in the near future two more will be added.

At the bottom of the scoreboard, there is a vacant space which will be filled in with notice of the next match. During the game the flags of McGill and her opponent will fly from the posts at either end. The top of the board bears the McGill crown and two crests.

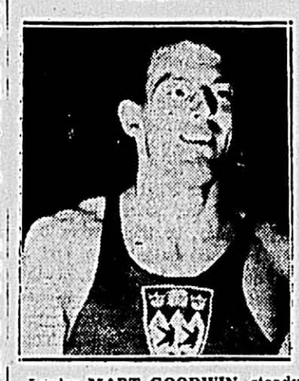

THREE HUNDRED CARDS

In order to operate the score board a series of over three hundred cards are required. These include the numbers and letters. As well to aid the fans a series of eight loudspeakers will blair out the news of who did what to whom and how many yards were gained or lost.

With the glut of labor on the market, our scoreboard is the answer to National Selective Services troubles. One man is to be the manager while a second takes care of the downs. A third is on numbers while yet another works on the clock. Two men are responsible for the telephones while one man works on the radio getting out-of-town scores. Finally another person communicates by walkie-talkie with the scoreboard as to number of yards-to-go.

With all due humility the students of McGill thank God and the Imperial Tobacco Company for their scoreboard.

TRICKY

Lanky MART GOODWIN, steady centre of last year's powerful McGill cage squad, who once again is rated as the man to beat for that position. Goodwin played excellent ball last year and with one season under his belt will be hard to stop.

M.O.C. Mumblings

by Stew

"Allemande left to your corners all." The elastic sides of the house shook, as the M.O.C. energetically barn-danced off the effects of oversized steaks. In fact the steaks were so big that even the smallest of them would not fit in the frying pan.

The girls got up bright and early in the morning expecting to be greeted by the delightful aroma of pan-cakes and maple syrup. Instead the snores of the should-be cooks could be heard at the cross roads. Consequently they were still eating when the Sunday train arrived, tsk, tsk!

TRAIL CLEARERS

Mr. Johannsen (Jack Rabbit) led the trail clearers in and smoothed the ruffled feathers of the "shotgun packing" farmers, who objected to having their blankety-blank trees cut down.

Once more and probably for the last time this year the rock climbers scaled the peaks at Val David. Highlights: first snow ball fight of the season, one lost steak (eh, Trudy?) and a tumble into the icy "crik"! Transportation via. the thumb brought them back for one of those famous M.O.C. feasts.

Council Chooses 20 Cage Squad To Form League

Section Winners Play Dawson, Macdonald For Final Title

With the softball season nearing its end, the Intermural Athletics Council laid plans for the coming basketball program at its meeting yesterday. Due consideration was given to the large male enrollment this year and consequently the 1945-46 cage season will definitely be the largest ever.

1 TEAM PER 100

Although the opening game and official schedule have yet to be drawn up ,the council did name the teams that will form the league so that each squad can start practising as soon as they please, providing they reserve the floor beforehand. In naming the teams the council worked on the basis of one squad for every 100 male students enrolled. This resulted in all of twenty teams being named. Dawson and Macdonald Colleges are to operate their own leagues with the winner of those loops meeting the champs of each section into which the twenty McGill quintets will be divided.

The squads were chosen in such

Wildcats Engage Tigers Tomorrow For First Place

Smith Coached Team Out to Revenge Defeat From Bennett's Squad

With the Q.R.F.U. schedule at the half way stage, McGill squads have assumed complete command of the league. On Wednesday night, the league championship will be in abeyance when the leading Tigers face the revitalized Wildcats.

Hot after their 5-0 defeat of Verdun Grads last Saturday, the Smith-coached Wildcats will be out to revenge their previous 18-3 defeat at the hands of the Tigers. This game has all the ear marks of a tough battle for a Tiger win means championship, while the Wildcats must win to tie for first place.

Greatly pleased with the playing of his team Saturday, when Barbeau, Benjamin, Shannon, Al Finlay and Pete Finlay shone, Stu Smith is confident of a victory. On the Tiger bench Johnny Bennett feels his team will continue on its unbeaten course.

Word from Verdun has it that the Montreal Hornets, who have completed their season's play will now line up with the Grads team. The toughening of the opposition means that the league play which has been dominated completely by McGill this year, will be much closer.

Lineups for Wednesday's game will probably be as follows:

Wildcats		Tigers
Barbeau	R.H.	Roth
Piper	L.H.	Greatrix

of the war and the return of intercollegiate sport. Reverend Father Paul Cote, O.M.I., director of athletics, has already made plans for a great sports future with teams ready to compete in hockey and basketball this year and football next fall.

The rivalry exhibited on the gridiron by Queen's, R.M.C., and Ottawa University in the Intermediate Football League has always been keen and the authorities here are hoping that their Garnet and Grey teams of time to come will be more competitive than ever.

Queen's University

Kingston, Ont.—Queen's plan to enter teams in most intercollegiate competitions. Rugby is already in full swing and we are sending a strong track team to Montreal on November 2. Hockey, basketball, swimming, boxing and wrestling teams sporting the Tricolor will enter the intercollegiate lists. The Board of Governors will settle these details on November 5. Queen's does not plan to enter the golf and tennis tournaments.

University of Toronto

Toronto, Ont.—Intercollegiate sports at the University of Toronto are off to a flying start. With two football games under its belt, the football team takes a back seat to the golfers who swept both the senior and intermediate tournaments. Varsity tennis players won the intermediate tournament held at McMaster but their senior brothers did not fare as well at McGill. Track is another specialty with which the Varsity hopes rest.

Plans for the future include an active participation in all intercollegiate sport. With the enlarged enrolment, athletes of better than average calibre are made available to the various coaches and when proper facilities are available, the University of Toronto athletic teams will be heard from in a big way. Prospects for the future are indeed very bright.

University of Western Ontario

London, Ont.—The return of intercollegiate sport is welcomed at Western, where the Mustangs are all set to repeat their 1939 victory on the rugby field. The Mustang band has made its first appearance since the war, and again cheers on the Western team. Three bus-loads of students went down to McGill for the McGill-Western game. This adds an entire new spirit to rugby games. Accommodation for the girls going to Montreal was looked after by the Montreal Alumnae of Western. Here at Western we feel that the return of intercollegiate sport brings back an aspect of college life which was sadly missed during the war.

University of Manitoba

Winnipeg Man.—The University of Manitoba won last weekend's intercollegiate tennis tournament at Saskatoon.

Both boy's and girl's basketball squads from the Universities of Saskatchewan and Alberta will play at a two-day meet here in January. Teams from the same two universities will return in February for the Swimming Gala.

University of Saskatchewan

Saskatoon, Sask.—The sports situation shows great increase in inter-Varsity competition The University of Saskatchewan was host to the Manitoba and Alberta tennis squads on Oct. 20 and 21, with Manitoba taking the championship.

Also on the 20th was the first game of Western inter-Varsity football play-offs, when the Alberta team bested the Huskies 14-5.

The University of British Columbia Thunderbirds will be here on Oct. 27 with a strong team. Saskatchewan will travel to Alberta. The winner will go to the Universities of British Columbia, Manitoba, Alberta, and Saskatchewan.

Music. This course is offered at night as an extension course but no credit is given for it."

Criticism was made of the lack of interest many music students show in their own faculty. "It's just the place where they have a few lectures but they don't get to know their classmates. One reason for this is the great number of students who are just partials and also the fact that many of them are either very old or very young and there are seldom many students of the same age taking the same courses!"

Students were uniform in their praise of the Music Room. "The Music Room in really superb!" they said. But they were emphatic in their criticism of the rest of the building. "The classrooms and practice rooms are horrible. It's really unfair to ask students to use them. The whole building is decrepit and needs renovation. There is poor light and poor veintilation. The whole place smells awful!" were some of the comments I elicited.

A great deal of enthusiasm was show when it became known that the Daily was going to make the Conservatorium the subject of this issue. "I hope it will impress upon the rest of the University the fact that we exist." "It's about time something was done!" and, "I'm really looking forward to seeing that issue of the Daily tomorrow!" they told me.

Well, music students, here you are with compliments of yours truly who hopes your situation will show great improvement thanks to her humble efforts.

ners were now . . . aaa . . haa . . haa . . naughty, naughty!

Rumours have it that three Varsity boys just missed the proceedings by a close shave. Yup, what crops of neatly combed hair formerly adorned their domes were now rough-surfaced skating rinks a la Eric Blore.

These 'ferocious gentlemen' didn't stop here neither. No sir, the Toronto Stadium stands bore a different hue after they were through. The famous tricolor of Queens was painted on every seat plus a big 'Q', while an unsuccessful attempt was made at the goal posts.

Don't say I didn't warn you Redmen. When these haughty Kingston fugitives grace our beloved Molson, they'll intend to paint the town red and I do mean red. So be on your toes and don't forget that extra club . . . oops . . . club colors you bring along might come in very handy.

A word to the wise is sufficient they say, but you gentlemen of the Scarlet Key, please, please, this is no time for gentle tactics if we are to uphold the pride and prestige of McGill. The same goes for the Red and Whiters.

It looks like legal action will be pending in our sacred institution next Monday, so that makes it a date for next Satday p.m. and if you don't like the looks of the prospective doings, come to see those madmen of bedlam, the cheerleaders, they're sure to have some fun in store for you.
